

CWN ANNWN

"This awesome band from Minneapolis really did surprise me, excite me and overwhelm me with their great music. Don't let their unpronounceable and weird band name withhold you from buying this EP, because this band is very much worth the exploring." - Metal Maidens - June 2008

www.metalmaidens.com

"One of the best self releases I've heard in a while. I hope someone takes a chance of these guys and a deal will be done before the year is out, as a band of this quality doesn't deserve to slog it out in the mire of the underground for too long." - Live 4 Metal - June 2008

www.live4metal.com

"5 tunes are pure heavy metal with an awesome singer and get this, she is a female. The girl just has a tremendous vocal range and she sings the songs with a fire and passion not matched by many. The tunes are power metal with bits of speed added to them. 5 tunes only made me want more, more, more. The production is perfect as is the bands guitar sound as well. Awesome job on this one." - Metal Core Fanzine - April 2008

www.metalcorefanzine.com

"I've listened to this EP while reading a Spiderman graphic novel. I've listened to this EP while eating shrimp and pineapple pizza. I've listened to this EP while doing household chores. I've listened to this EP while working on my website and writing e-mails. I've listened to this EP while reading Classic Rock Magazine. I've listened to this EP in a mad dash for work. I've also listened to this EP while laying on the sofa with a blanket pulled over my head. And finally I've listened to this EP while reading the very impressive press kit. And damn, I'm wowed." - Legendary Kingdoms - April 2008

<http://invadingforces.blogspot.com/>

"THE BIG POTENTIAL OF (CWN ANNWN) SHINES THROUGH ALL THE WAY." - METAL COVENANT - APRIL 2008

WWW.METALCOVENANT.COM

In today's vacuum of female-fronted metal bands, there could be deserved attention for newcomers Cwn Annwn ("coon-uh-NOON," Welsh for "hound of chaos"). The young St. Paul quartet — blending Metallica-style thrash with singer Julie Schultz's Alanis-style vocals — promotes its debut EP "Blood of the Djinn" at Station 4 tonight (9 p.m., $5). ... Haley Bonar's